

The Tokyo iCDC Infection After-Effects Task Force has been holding regular online seminars on the actual conditions and medical treatment of Post-COVID symptoms (i.e., long COVID) since July 2022

- A total of six seminars have been conducted for healthcare professionals thus far. Four seminars are scheduled to be held in FY2024.

【1st Seminar in FY2024】

<Date and Time> June 23, 2024 (Sun), 2:30 pm - 4:30 pm ※Application deadline: June 18, 2024 (Tues), 1:00 pm

<Theme> Partnership with Psychiatry for Treatment, and Support for Return to Work

<Method> Web-based (online livestreaming) ※Video to be streamed at a later date

<Target Participants> Doctors, nurses, pharmacists and other medical professionals, health and safety personnel of companies, etc.

【Program】

Opening Remarks by Dr. Mitsuo Kaku (Director, Tokyo iCDC/Specially Appointed Professor, St. Marianna University School of Medicine/Professor Emeritus, Tohoku University)

① “Partnering with Psychiatry in Treating Long COVID”

Dr. Yoshiyo Oguchi (Lecturer, Department of Neuropsychiatry, St. Marianna University School of Medicine)

② “Returning to Work for People with Long COVID: Fundamental Ideas and Processes”

Dr. Seiichiro Tateishi (Tokyo iCDC Infection After-Effects Task Force Member/Professor, University of Occupational and Environmental Health)

③ “Reality of Return to Work Based on Actual Cases”

Dr. Yu Igarashi (Tokyo iCDC Infection After-Effects Task Force Member/Lecturer, University of Occupational and Environmental Health)

④ “Long COVID and Workers' Compensation System”

Dr. Toru Yoshikawa (Tokyo iCDC Infection After-Effects Task Force Member/Senior Researcher, National Institute of Occupational Safety and Health)